LAW

- Constitutional Law (1st course, 1st term)

This course analyse the most relevant issues in Spanish Constitutional Law and Comparative Constitutional Law across a range of jurisdictions. After an introduction on the purpose of Constitutional Law, the course deals with key constitutional concepts (constitution; constitutionalism; rule of law; presidentialism, parliamentarism) which are discussed from a historical and comparative perspective

- Public International Law (2nd course, 1st term)

This course aims to provide the basics of the international legal system in order to reach a better understanding of the current international reality. The syllabus is divided into three main sections devoted to a) the international legal system, b) the subjects of the international legal system –States, International Organizations and individuals, and c) the enforcement of the international legal system.

- European Union Law(2nd course, 1st term)

This course aims to provide the basics of the legal dimension of the EU.

From a Public International Law perspective, students learn the origin and historical evolution of the EU, the specific nature of its law in relation to International Law, the EU institutional system, the functioning of its internal market, and the main EU policies, including its external action. And from a Constitutional Law point of view, students critically assess the structures, methods and content of the EU legal order.

- Tax Law (4th course, 1st term)

Students learn the nuance of the main taxes of the Spanish tax system, with special focus in Income Tax, Corporate Income Tax, Non-Resident Income Tax, Gift and Inheritance Tax, Wealth Tax and Value Added Tax. Apart from these State taxes, taxes levied by the Autonomous Regions and Municipalities will be analysed as well.

- Business taxation (4th course, 2nd term)

Business Taxation course goes further into the study of the main taxable profits of business owners, professionals and companies, and the taxation of business transactions.

Thus, this subject focuses on the taxation of income from economical activities, as regulated by the Personal Income Tax, Corporate Income Tax and the tax treatment of transactions subject to VAT.

LABOUR RELATIONS AND HUMAN RESOURCES MANAGEMENT

- Constitutional Law (1st course, 2nd term)

This course analyse the most relevant issues in Spanish Constitutional Law and Comparative Constitutional Law across a range of jurisdictions. After an introduction on the purpose of Constitutional Law, the course deals with key constitutional concepts (constitution; constitutionalism; rule of law; presidentialism, parliamentarism) which are discussed from a historical and comparative perspective

- Strategic management (3rd course, 2nd term)

This subject analyses the Strategic Management model as a prevailing paradigm in Management. This model seeks to interpret the development of business activity in order to enable it to effectively respond, both to the opportunities and favourable situations that the external environment presents, as well as to those other threats and challenges that might also emerge. All this without losing sight of internal resources, capabilities and strengths the firm itself possesses, and any weaknesses it may still have.
